Written by Katerina Oskarsson
Tuesday, 11 March 2014 00:00

Dennis McGinn, U.S. Navy assistant secretary for energy, installations, and the environment, discusses how the Navy is using advanced biofuels to power ships, planes and vehicles to cut its dependence on foreign oil and bolster its energy security. Watch an interview with Dennis McGinn HERE .